No such items were considered at this meeting.

4 Reports of Boards and Standing Committees

4.1 Nominating Committee

Douglas Arnold, Chair of the Nominating Committee, reported on the committee's recommendations concerning the Fall 2016 election and the 2017 Presidential candidates. Insofar as was possible, biographies of recommended candidates were available for inspection at the meeting.

There was some discussion about the information included in these biographies, which will be published in the September 2016 issue of the Notices and included with election material. Candidates submit biographical and professional information requested of them on a form sent from the AMS. Two optional items requested are birthdate and birthplace, which some Council members felt was inappropriate.

In the end, the Council referred the issue of which pieces of information should or should not be solicited from the candidates to the Committee on the Profession for consideration.

However, the Council approved a motion that the birth date of the candidates not be published in the 2016 Election Information and that the birthdate information not be requested in advance of future AMS elections.

4.2 Executive Committee and Board of Trustees

4.2.1 Proposed New Research Fellowships

In October, 2015, the AMS Development Committee was contacted about establishing a series of year-long, mid-career research fellowships for women. The Development Committee is working with the prospective donors to formulate a description of the fellowships in order to make a proposal for consideration by the Committee on the Profession in the fall.

In November 2015, the ECBT authorized the AMS to accept contributions in support of these fellowships, with details of the fellowship program to be considered by the Committee on the Profession, recommended to the Council, and subject to the Council's approval. The donors have asked that their names be kept confidential during the review process.

Secretary Savage reported on the status of these fellowships that, if approved by the Committee on the Profession, will be recommended to Council for consideration. A brief discussion followed.

4.3 Editorial Boards Committee [Executive Session]

Chairs of those editorial committees with representation on the Council are appointed by the Council itself. There were four such appointments considered in Executive Session.

4.5 Committee on Meetings and Conferences

The Committee on Meetings and Conferences (CoMC) met in Chicago, Illinois on March 12, 2016. T. Christine Stevens gave an oral report of this meeting on behalf of the committee. She discussed actions of the committee resulting in proposals that will come before the Council in January. These include discontinuing the program “Meetings in Cooperation with the AMS” (see <http://www.ams.org/meetings/in-cooperation-with/in-cooperation-with>) and not seeking to renew the expiring six-year agreement with the New Zealand Mathematical Society to co-sponsor the Maclaurin Lecture Series (see Item 7.6 of these minutes). Stevens reported that the next CoMC review will be of AMS Conference Series and Institutes (other than the sectional meetings, international meetings, and JMM). The full written report of the 2016 CoMC meeting will be included with the January 2017 Council Agenda.

5 Old Business

5.1 Anti-Harassment Policy Statement

The January 2016 Council approved a new AMS Anti-Harassment Statement (Attachment E). The Statement was recommended to Council by the Committee on the Profession as an update and replacement of the AMS Policy Statement on Sexual Harassment (Attachment F) which was adopted by the Council in 1994 so as to speak in the name of the Society.

The January 2016 Council proposed that the following resolution be considered at this Council meeting:

The Council endorses the AMS Anti-Harassment Statement so as to speak in the name of the Society. This statement is intended to replace the 1994 AMS Policy Statement on Sexual Harassment.

The Council unanimously approved the resolution.

6 New Business

6.1 Report of the Executive Director

Executive Director Donald McClure gave his annual report to the Council. He began with a discussion of the impact of the Society on the early-career mathematicians as is evidenced by successful meetings and programs such as the Math Research Communities, the AMS-Simons Travel grants and the donor-funded AMS Travel Grants given to graduate students to attend AMS meetings. He mentioned the success of the international meetings program, highlighting the 2015 Porto, Portugal meeting, joint with the European Mathematical Society and the Sociedade Portuguesa de Matemática. He informed the Council that the fiscal health of the Society was bolstered this year by charitable contributions—total donations for the year amounted to an unusually high $1.75 million.

McClure went on to give an update on the implementation of the strategic plan, which was approved by Council in January of 2016. The Divisions of Mathematical Reviews and Publishing have both established project teams to implement the plan; a department of Education and Diversity has been established within the Division of Meetings and Professional Services; and the capacities of AMS primary journals have been greatly increased. Technological innovations, such as the AMS Online Bookstore and a public Author Profile in MathSciNet with, thanks to a donation from Donald Knuth, an option to display author names in native script, have been implemented.

After some discussion of the report, President Bryant pointed out that this would be Executive Director McClure's final Council meeting. In response, The Council adopted the following resolution of thanks:

The Council expresses its gratitude to Donald McClure for his remarkable leadership of the AMS over the past seven years. His dedication, innovation, and effective leadership has been an inspiration and he leaves the AMS in a tremendous position. We are grateful for the effort and commitment he has given to the job and wish him well in his future endeavors.

6.2 AMS Executive Director Search [Executive Session]

A report on the status of the ongoing search for the next AMS Executive Director was presented in the Executive Session. The new Executive Director will replace Donald McClure, who is retiring from the position in the summer of 2016.

According to the AMS Bylaws (Article VI, Section 2): "The Executive Director shall be appointed by the Board of Trustees with the consent of the Council."

The Board of Trustees expects to name its choice for successor to Donald McClure soon. The Council will then be asked to approve the selection. A Council meeting by electronic means will be conducted for this purpose. The Council expressed interest in hearing some feedback from the Executive Committee during the discussion period of that electronic meeting about the candidate selected by the Trustees.

6.3 Annual Council Discussion

The Council devoted a portion of this meeting to a discussion of the following topic, chosen by the Executive Committee:

One of the initiatives in the AMS Strategic Plan is to publish more mathematics content. What form might this take and how might it be implemented?

Background information prepared by the AMS Publishing Division was distributed to the Council prior to the meeting. The discussion lasted for approximately 80 minutes. Suggestions and observations from this discussion will be shared with the Publishing Division of the AMS.

December 31, 2015

The Annual Survey Data Committee guides the collection and dissemination of data on matters of concern to the mathematical sciences community. The committee held its annual meeting during the Joint Mathematics Meetings in San Antonio, TX in January 2015. The committee discussed data gathered and published during the previous year and made recommendations on data to be gathered in 2015. AMS Staff in Providence, under the direction of T. Christine Stevens, Associate Executive Director for Meetings and Professional Services, carry out the annual collection and analysis of data and the writing of the reports jointly with the committee chair. AMS staff members involved in this work during 2015 included James Maxwell, Associate Executive Director for Special Projects, Thomas Barr, Special Projects Officer, Colleen Rose, AMS Survey Analyst, and Laura Byrum, AMS Survey Assistant.

Based on data gathered in questionnaires sent to departments of mathematical sciences in the U.S. and to new doctoral recipients that earned degrees between July 1, 2013–June 30, 2014, five reports were published in the *Notices of the AMS.

Staff at AMS handled eleven requests for specialized reports drawn from the Annual Survey Data. Eight of these reports were faculty salaries peer analyses, and three were special analyses of departmental profile data along with counts of the number of PhD's produced for each department included in the special reports.

Members of the committee for 2015 and the organization they represent are given below. Terms expire on January 31 of the listed year.

AMS-ASA-IMS-MAA-SIAM Surveys of U.S. Mathematical Sciences Departments

The AMS-ASA-MAA-SIAM Data Committee gives advice to AMS staff about annual data gathering from U.S. departments in the mathematical sciences. This data gathering was started by AMS in 1957 and has continued uninterrupted since that time. The MAA joined this effort in 1989 and in more recent times IMS, ASA and SIAM have become sponsors. AMS staff, under the Associate Executive Director for Meetings and Professional Services, carries out the survey work. The Chair of the Data Committee and appropriate personnel at AMS currently write reports each year which are published in Notices of the AMS based on the annual surveys. The current surveys are highlighted below.

New Doctoral Recipients: Each calendar year the data gathering begins in April. Doctoral granting departments in the Mathematical Sciences in the U.S. are asked to report a variety of information about their new doctoral recipients from July 1 the previous year through June 30 of the current year. The departments are asked for the names of their new doctoral recipients, dissertation titles, addresses, citizenship, current employment status, etc. A preliminary report on the information gathered by early fall is typically published in the following March issue of the Notices of the AMS with a final report published in the August issue of Notices of the AMS.

Academic Recruitment and Hiring: Each July (previously sent in October), departments are asked to report on their efforts to recruit new faculty during the previous year and report on the new faculty hired as a result of their recruiting. The results of this survey are typically published in a spring issue of Notices of the AMS.

Faculty Salaries: Each September (previously sent in June), a questionnaire is sent to Mathematical Sciences departments in all 4-year colleges and universities in the U.S. asking them to provide salary information for all tenured or tenure-track faculty in their department for the upcoming academic year. This information is reported by group (see group definitions below) and by rank. Information gathered for this report is typically published in a spring issue of the Notices of the AMS.

Employment Experiences of New Doctoral Recipients: Beginning each October, further information is gathered about new doctoral recipients. Using the names and addresses of new doctoral recipients provided earlier on the Survey of New Doctoral Recipients, a questionnaire is sent to each new doctoral recipient asking for their current employment status, salary, gender, etc. This information, combined with the final data gathered on the Survey of New Doctoral Recipients, provides a more comprehensive look at the new doctoral recipients as well as giving information about their starting salaries. This information is typically published in the August issue of Notices of the AMS.

Departmental Profile: Faculty Profile, Enrollment and Degrees Awarded Profile, Graduate Student Profile: In January, another questionnaire is sent to all departments of Mathematical Sciences awarding a doctoral or masters degree and to departments awarding at most a bachelors degree. It asks them for details about number and type of faculty, enrollments in courses by broad categories, number and type of graduate students in departments with graduate programs, etc. Information from this questionnaire is used to provide a profile of each reporting group of departments. The results are typically published in a fall issue of Notices of the AMS.

Group definitions. Departments in the U.S. are divided into groups and results are given for each of these groups in reporting on these surveys. Starting with the 2012 cycle of surveys, a new grouping scheme has been adopted by the Data Committee and it will be reflected in the subsequent reports of these surveys. For more details see <http://www.ams.org/profession/data/annual-survey/groups> .

Other activities. The Annual Survey Data Committee also offers guidance to AMS survey staff on the data gathered for presentation as an online resource for prospective students in the Mathematical Sciences. This online resource Graduate Programs in the Mathematical Sciences, available at <http://www.ams.org/programs/students/findgradprograms/findgradprograms> is primarily intended as a convenient source of comparative information on graduate programs in the mathematical sciences. Prior to 2012, this information was published as guidebook titled Assistantships and Graduate Fellowships in the Mathematical Sciences.

At times the committee advises other groups contemplating gathering data from departments of Mathematical Sciences. This may include informing them that such data is already available and steering them to it. When asked, the committee makes suggestions on questionnaires that other groups are planning to use to gather data.

From time to time departments ask for salary information for a peer group of their department. The staff at AMS provides this information whenever an appropriate peer group is available and the confidentiality of individual department responses can be assured. The committee currently holds a half-day meeting at the Joint Mathematics Meetings in January each year.

AMS-MAA Joint Committee on Archives
Annual Report, 1 February 2015–31 January 2016

Committee Members, 2015–2016:

Amy Ackerberg-Hastings (MAA, chair)

Bill Casselman (AMS)

Karen Parshall (AMS)

Dan Slougher (MAA)

John Colin Stillwell (AMS)

David Zitarelli (MAA)

Activities:

The Joint Committee on Archives is charged with encouraging mathematicians and archivists to preserve mathematicians' papers, facilitating the deposit process as needed, and liaising among the AMS, MAA, the archivists at Brown University who care for the AMS archives, and the archivist at the American Archives of Mathematics (AAM, located at the University of Texas at Austin) who cares for the MAA archives. During the 2015–2016 year, the committee exchanged emails periodically and met at JMM in Seattle on 6 January 2016.

The committee's main ongoing interest is in making detailed information about the AMS archives publicly available. While the collections within the archive are listed in Brown's online library catalog, a researcher has to contact the archives and visit Brown to find out exactly what is in the archive. In contrast, Carol Mead at AAM created a finding aid for the MAA archives that meets current digital archival standards: <http://www.lib.utexas.edu/taro/utcah/00473/cah-00473.html>. Coordinating with the staff at Brown is a perennial issue, since they have many other responsibilities besides the AMS archives. Karen Parshall and former committee chair Jim Tattersall may visit Brown in spring 2016 to discuss what Brown needs to move forward with better describing the AMS archives. In September 2015, Karen Mollohan of AMS reminded the committee of the schedule for transferring records from AMS to Brown; that process is going well.

Carol Mead and Albert Lewis of the Educational Advancement Foundation (EAF) occasionally update the committee on their organizations' activities. At its meeting in Seattle, the committee decided to write letters to the AMS and MAA councils supporting the AAM's fundraising campaign to permanently endow the archivist's position. A successful campaign will help ensure the AAM's survival when the current EAF grant, which provides a major portion of the AAM's support, expires in 2018.

The committee is continuing to reconstruct the institutional memory of the Math on the Web pages created by a previous committee, <http://www.mathontheweb.org/mathweb/>. These are kept online by Patrick Ion but have not been updated in a few years.

Support Requested from MAA & AMS Staff/Executive Council/Council on Publications and Communications/Board of Governors:

The committee continues to encourage the MAA and AMS to support the AAM's fundraising campaign.

For 2016–2017, the committee currently has only four members, two from the MAA and two from the AMS, and no chair. The committee urges that the remaining positions be filled as soon as possible. Additionally, the committee suggests that AMS explore disbanding its separate committee on archives, since the members are required to serve on both the AMS and the joint committees and since the activities of the two committees are generally duplicative.

*Respectfully submitted,
Amy Ackerberg-Hastings, chair

AMS Anti-Harassment Policy

In all its activities, the AMS strives to foster a welcoming environment that encourages the free expression and exchange of ideas. The AMS supports equality of opportunity and treatment for all participants, regardless of gender, gender identity or expression, race, color, national or ethnic origin, religion or religious belief, age, marital status, sexual orientation, disabilities, or veteran status.

Harassment, sexual or otherwise, is a form of misconduct that undermines the integrity of AMS activities and mission. The AMS endeavors to maintain an environment that is free of harassment. Any person aware of inappropriate conduct may file a report confidentially and anonymously to +1-855-282-5703 or at www.mathsociety.ethicspoint.com. The reporting mechanism ensures the respect of privacy while alerting the AMS to the situation.

Understanding Harassment

Harassment is belittling or threatening behavior directed at an individual or a group of people. This conduct may include, but is not limited to: epithets, slurs or negative stereotyping; threatening, intimidating or hostile acts; denigrating jokes and display or circulation of written or graphic material that disparages or shows hostility or aversion toward an individual or group.

Harassment also refers to bullying or coercion of a sexual nature. Sexual harassment can include offensive remarks about a person's gender, gender identity, or sexual preference. Harassment may include unwelcome or inappropriate promises of rewards in exchange for sexual favors. The following are examples of behavior that, when unwelcome, may constitute sexual harassment: sexual flirtations, advances, or propositions; unnecessary touching; verbal comments or physical actions of a sexual nature; sexually degrading words used to describe an individual; a display of sexually suggestive objects or pictures; sexually explicit jokes.

It is important to be aware of discomfort or offense that words or actions may cause. A teasing comment or offhand remark that may be inoffensive to some may be perceived as harassment by others. Consequently, individuals must act to ensure that their words and actions communicate respect for others, in light of the international and multicultural nature of the mathematical community. Those in positions of authority must be especially mindful of this policy since individuals with lower rank or a subordinate position may be reluctant to express their objections or discomfort regarding unwelcome behavior.

Applicability to the Profession

The AMS believes that harassment has no place in mathematics, whatever the setting. Members of the profession should refrain from such behavior as well as work towards preventing it.

Current AMS Policy Statement on Sexual Harassment

(as adopted by the June 1994 Council)

Policy Statement on Sexual Harassment

AMS endorses the American Association of University Professors 1990 statement on sexual harassment which is recorded here:

On sexual harassment [\[1\]](#)

It is the policy of this institution that no member of the academic community may sexually harass another. Sexual advances, requests for sexual favors, and other conduct of a sexual nature constitute sexual harassment when:

Any such proposals are made under circumstances implying that one's response might affect such academic or personnel decisions as are subject to the influence of the person making such proposals; or

Such conduct is repeated or is so offensive that it substantially contributes to an unprofessional academic or work environment or interferes with required tasks, career opportunities, or learning; or

Such conduct is abusive of others and creates or implies a discriminatory hostility toward their personal or professional interest because of their sex.[\[2\]](#)

Adopted by the Council in June 1994 so as to speak in the name of the Society

[1] For the state of the law as it pertains to sexual harassment in the employment context, see Meritor Savings Bank, F.S.B. v. Vinson, 477 U.S. 57 (1986).

[2] Faculty members and staff are cautioned against entering romantic or sexual relationships with their students; so too, is a supervisor cautioned against entering such relationships with an employee. Faculty and staff should be cautious in assuming professional responsibilities for those with whom they have an existing romantic relationship. (See also the AAUP statement on Faculty Appointment and Family Relationships.)
