David S Richeson* (richesod@dickinson.edu), Department of Mathematics and Comp. Sci., Dickinson College, Carlisle, PA 17013. Biographical podcasts in a history of mathematics course.

In my history of mathematics class I had each student create a 3-minute biographical podcast of a mathematician. These podcasts were posted on the class webpage and were broadcast as public affairs segments on the college radio station. In this talk I will discuss the assignment, the technology required to make the podcast, and the success of the project. (Received September 17, 2007)
