

1118-97-81            Alan Sultan* (asultan956@aol.com), Department of Mathematics, Queens College, Flushing, NY 11367. Description of a special, intense teacher education program. Preliminary report.

We describe in this talk the TIME 2000 program at Queens college. This is a very intense program which has been in existence for over seventeen years and where students are taken directly from high school and fully immersed in the teaching of mathematics from the day they enter college. The unusual success of this program is documented, and the issues of administering such a program are discussed. (Received January 23, 2016)