In this talk, we will illustrate two explicit methods which lead to special $L$-values of certain modular forms admitting complex multiplication. One approach is using the beta functions and hypergeometric functions to express the special $L$-values, and the other approach is using evaluations of Eisenstein series to express the special $L$-values. (Received January 23, 2019)