We explain how to prove a function field analog of the twin prime conjecture, saying that over some finite field, there are infinitely many monic irreducible polynomials with any fixed difference. This is based on a joint work with Will Sawin, where special properties of the Mobius functions in positive characteristic are used to make the problem amenable to geometric methods. (Received August 28, 2019)