

1024-11-4

Andrew J. Granville*, University of Montreal. Erdős's dream and pretentious characters.

We will discuss how the theory of multiplicative functions, a favorite of Paul Erdos, can be better understood by looking out for pretentious behaviour, and how this sheds new light on central questions concerning multiplicative functions in arithmetic progressions. (Received May 16, 2006)