MathSciNet[®]
Mathematical Reviews

The National Mathematical Reviews Subscription Program expands global access to high-quality mathematical research.

As part of its mission to promote mathematics research around the world, the AMS offers discounted subscriptions to MathSciNet[®] to developing nations. For some nations even the discounted prices are too costly and those countries are fully sponsored through the program, which currently reaches more than one hundred institutions in over forty countries. Donor support provides access to mathematics for even more global communities.
