

MCA 2017

JULY 24-28 MONTREAL CANADA

The second Mathematical Congress of the Americas (MCA) will take place on July 24-28, 2017, at Centre Mont-Royal and McGill University, Montreal, Canada. Based on the very successful experience of the first Congress, wide participation of mathematicians and students from North America, Central America, South America, and the Caribbean is expected.

The goals of the Mathematical Congress of the Americas are to highlight the excellence of mathematical achievements of the Americas in the international arena and to foster collaboration between the continents' mathematical communities.

Call for Special Session Proposals

Proposals of special sessions at MCA 2017 are welcomed by the Special Sessions Subcommittee. Early submission of proposals is encouraged: good proposals will be approved on a regular basis before the deadline, so that session speakers may be invited in plenty of time to make travel and funding arrangements. Proposals should be sent to sessions@mca2017.org before July 31, 2016. Go to mca2017.org/news/latest-news/call-special-session-proposals to learn more.

Prizes of the Mathematical Council of the Americas Call for Nominations

The MCA Prize ▪ The Americas Prize ▪ The Solomon Lefschetz Medal

The Mathematical Council of the Americas (MCoFA) welcomes nominations for the following prizes, which will be awarded on the occasion of the 2nd Mathematical Congress of the Americas. Nominations must be submitted by e-mail, to the address mca2017.prizes@gmail.com, not later than December 15, 2016.
