

American Mathematical Society
CONSENT TO PUBLISH
Journals, Proceedings, and Collections

The American Mathematical Society requires authors of articles in AMS publications to provide a formal written Consent to Publish. The Society's policy strongly recommends that Authors provide a full Transfer of Copyright (see Paragraphs 3 and 5) to the American Mathematical Society (the "Publisher"). The signed Consent to Publish gives the Publisher the permission of the Author to publish the Work. The signed Transfer of Copyright empowers the Publisher to protect the Work against unauthorized use and to maintain the integrity of the Work from a bibliographical and archival standpoint. If there are multiple authors of the material governed by this Consent to Publish, the term "Author" as used in this Consent refers to each and all of them, jointly and severally.

The Publisher hereby requests that the Author complete and return this form promptly so that the Work may be readied for publication.

Title of Contribution ("Work"): _____

Author: _____

Name of Publication: _____

1. The Author hereby consents to publication of the Work in any and all AMS publications.
2. The Author warrants that the Work has not been published before in any form except as a preprint, that the Work is not being concurrently submitted to and is not under consideration by another publisher, that the persons listed above are listed in the proper order and that no author entitled to credit has been omitted, and generally that the Author has the right to make the grants made to the Publisher complete and unencumbered. The Author also warrants that the Work does not libel anyone, infringe anyone's copyright, or otherwise violate anyone's statutory or common law rights.
3. The Author hereby transfers to the Publisher the copyright of the Work. As a result, the Publisher shall have the exclusive and unlimited right to publish the Work wholly or in part throughout the World in all languages and all media for all applicable terms of copyright. This transfer includes all subsidiary rights subject only to Paragraph 4.
4. Whether or not Paragraph 3 applies to the Work, the following will apply:
  - a. The Author may reproduce the Work in any medium for educational use and for personal research purposes.
  - b. The Author may provide copies of the Work to any person with whom the Author is engaged in scientific research or dialogue.
  - c. The Author may post the final draft of the Work, as it exists immediately prior to editing and production by the Publisher, on the Author's own website or on non-commercial pre-print servers like arXiv.org. Such a draft is called the "Prepublication Draft."
  - d. If the Author's institution requires or strongly recommends that the Author do so, the Author may provide a copy of the Prepublication Draft to the institution for inclusion in its own database — preferably in the password-protected portion thereof — provided that no charge is made for access to or use of the contents of such database. This may be done only after publication by the Publisher.
  - e. No fee may be charged for any use covered by (a) through (d) above.
  - f. The Author will not license the Work to any commercial database, document delivery service, or other service for reproduction, distribution, display or transmission of copies of the Work on a standalone basis.
  - g. The Author may use part or all of the Work in the Author's own future publications.
  - h. In any reproduction by the Author or the Author's licensees, the original publication by the Publisher must be credited in the following manner: "First published in [Publication] in [volume and number, or year], published by the American Mathematical Society," and the copyright notice in proper form must be placed on all copies.

i. If Paragraph 3 applies to the Work, any publication or other form of reproduction not meeting these requirements will be deemed to be unauthorized.

5. If the Author wishes to retain copyright in the Work, in the Author's name or the name of a third party (e.g., employer), the Author may strike out Paragraph 3 above, but the Author's retained rights will still be subject to the conditions stated in Paragraph 4. In this case the Author nevertheless gives the Publisher unlimited rights throughout the world for all terms of copyright: (i) to publish and distribute the Work in any form and in all media now known or hereafter discovered, (ii) to translate the Work and exercise all rights in all media in the resulting translations, (iii) to transfer or sublicense the foregoing rights in whole or in part to third parties, and (iv) to accept and retain payment for these. The Publisher will also have the following exclusive rights:

- a. first publication rights in the English language, subject only to Paragraph 4(a) and (b) above, which exclusivity will expire if the Work is not published within three years of the date this Consent is signed;
- b. the exclusive right to reproduce, distribute, display, and transmit copies of the Work in a manner that reproduces the image of the Work as published by the Publisher, and to authorize others to do so, except for those uses described in Paragraph 4(a) and (b) above;
- c. the exclusive right to authorize reproduction for educational uses at institutions other than the Author's own;
- d. the exclusive right to authorize reproduction within commercial research organizations other than the Author's own.

In each case of authorized duplication of the Work in whole or in part, the Author must still ensure that the original publication by the Publisher is properly credited.

If copyright is not to be transferred to the Publisher, please indicate how the copyright line should read:

6. If the Author(s) transfers copyright to the Publisher, the Author(s) may dedicate the article to the public domain after 28 years from the date of publication. Works in the public domain are not protected by copyright and can be used freely by everyone. To choose whether to dedicate this article to the public domain after 28 years, initial one of the options below.

_____ I choose to dedicate this work to the public domain 28 years from the date of publication.

_____ I do not choose to dedicate this work to the public domain.

7. This form is to be signed by the Author or, in the case of a "work-made-for-hire," by the employer. If there is more than one author, then either all must sign Consent to Publish and Copyright Agreements, or one may sign for all provided the signer appends a statement signed by all authors that attests that each of them has approved this agreement and has agreed to be bound by it. (In such event the Publisher may deal exclusively with the signer in all matters regarding the Work.) This Agreement will be governed by the domestic laws of Rhode Island and will be binding on, and inure to the benefit of, the Author's heirs and personal representatives and the Publisher's successors and assigns.

Please note: If the Work was created by U.S. Government employees in the scope of their official duties, the Work cannot be copyrighted, and Paragraphs 3, 4 and 5 (other than the provisions requiring proper credit) of this agreement are void and of no effect. The Consent to Publish must nonetheless be signed.
