AMERICAN UNIVERSITY
BULGARIA (AUBG)
Department of Mathematics and Sciences
Assistant Professor in Mathematics

The Department of Mathematics and Sciences at the American University in Bulgaria (AUBG) is searching for a qualified candidate for the position of Assistant Professor in Mathematics. This is a regular, full-time three year renewable position starting fall 2016.

The successful candidate will be teaching six undergraduate courses in Mathematics per academic year. Initially most of the taught courses will be general educational courses and their choice will depend on the needs of the department. Other duties include publishing research papers in international peer-reviewed venues; advising students regarding graduation and other academic issues; participating in University and Faculty committees and actively taking part in the Department’s administrative duties and affairs.

The successful candidate should be an early career academic and should possess the following:
(a) A recently obtained PhD in Mathematics from an accredited institution;
(b) Education or/and degree obtained in English-speaking institutions;
(c) Experience in teaching (or tutoring) in English a variety of introductory undergraduate courses in Mathematics;
(d) Evidences of a successful start of their research and a strong potential to perform active research on a good international level;
(e) Experience with the American liberal arts-style education;
(f) Interest in working with colleagues to develop an outstanding university;
(g) A collegial disposition and qualities to work in a team.

All of the above requirements are essential. The AUBG is a private American-style liberal arts university established in 1991. We are a selective, residential institution with a diverse student body consisting of over 1,100 students from forty nationalities. More information can be found on www.aubg.edu.

To apply, candidates should email their CV, a cover letter explaining how they meet the above requirements and two letters of recommendation to email: mathematics@aubg.edu. Further materials may be requested at a later date. The review of all applications will start on January 30 and will continue until the position is filled.
