

AMERICAN MATHEMATICAL SOCIETY

The AMS Book and Journal Donation Program

The AMS Book and Journal Donation program matches donors of certain types of mathematical materials with recipient institutions or libraries in currency-poor or developing countries where there is a need for mathematical research literature.

So far the AMS has facilitated donations from generous individuals and libraries to more than 75 academic institutions in 28 countries. Recent recipients include Honduras, Mexico, India, and the Peoples Republic of China.

“... I am sure that this donation will contribute to the scientific progress of my country.”

—Jorge Cossio, Universidad Nacional de Colombia Sede Medellin

“... The journals will make a substantial difference in the opportunities for education of many talented individuals. This is a case of international cooperation at its best.”

—Alfonso Castro, Harvey Mudd College

“...The journals are extremely valuable for the Romanian mathematical community.”

—Dr. Serban Basarab, “Simion Stoilow” Institute of Mathematics of the Romanian Academy

The list of eligible countries, information on mathematical literature currently available for donation, and logistical details are at www.ams.org/programs/donations, or contact bookdonations@ams.org for more information.

Contact: Membership and Programs Department, American Mathematical Society, 201 Charles Street, Providence, RI 02904-2294 USA; telephone: 401-455-4139 (worldwide)

