

Contents

Preface	ix
The Unity and Disunity of Mathematics	1
Evidence in Mathematics	21
Out of What Stuff Do We Make Mathematics?	35
Computational Experiences in the Pre-Electronic Days	45
Spengler's Mathematics Considered and a Phoenix Reborn?	49
Can the Mathematical/Physical Notions of Entropy Be Usefully Imported into the Social Sphere?	65
The Decline, Fall, and Current Resurgence of Visual Geometry: Mathematics as a Multisemiotic Enterprise	79
The Unicorn or Mathematical Ontology	93
Mathematics, Politics, and Law	101
The Two Culture Controversy: A Mathematician's View a Half Century Later	105
Four Literary Men Comment on Mathematics: Henry James, George Santayana, Paul Valéry, and Isaiah Berlin	123
The Media and Mathematics Look at Each Other	137
New Winds Blowing in Applied Mathematics	147